

By the end of 2009, most MidAmerican Energy customer homes and businesses will have automated meter reading technology installed. Automated meter reading allows us to obtain actual meter readings remotely, from a company vehicle. That means we will no longer need to enter your property each month to read the meters. If you previously provided your own meter readings or made monthly access arrangements, and are not sure if you have automated meter reading technology, please call us at 888-427-5632.

Until our transition to automated meter reading is complete, we will continue to manually read some meters. As always, our meter readers will make every effort to read meters according to the schedule provided. However, severe weather, illness or scheduling issues may cause us to read the meter a day before or up to two days after the scheduled read date.

If we are still manually reading your meters, please allow our meter readers safe access to your meters during our four-day meter reading period:

- Keep your dog restrained away from the meters.
 - Keep the path to the meters free of hazards.
 - Keep steps and doors in good repair.
 - Clear ice and snow from walks and steps.
 - Keep meters free of obstacles, debris and snow.
- If there is ice buildup on your gas meter, please call us at 888-427-5632.

If your meter reader is unable to safely access the meter to obtain a read, your energy usage will be estimated. To report your own meter reading and avoid an estimated bill, you may:

- Visit www.midamericanenergy.com and log on to your Web account or set one up as a new user.
- Call our meter reading hotline, 800-432-6420.

You will find the number for your meter read group in the Message Center on your bill. Write that number in the upper left-hand corner of this schedule, so you don't have to check it every month. You may also want to note your account number above, so it is handy if you report your own meter reading.

To find your scheduled meter read date, scan down the left column for your meter read group. Then, go across that row to the appropriate month. Your monthly bill will also display your next scheduled meter read date in the Message Center.
